Final Seminar Will Meet At Horace Mann

Student teachers will convene in the Horace Mann auditorium tomorrow at 4 o'clock for the final seminar of the school year.

It will be an evaluation seminar in which Dr. Leon F. Miller, chairman of the education department, will present a summary of how students have evaluated their teaching and experience.

An evaluation form of directed teaching will be given to each student to fill out frankly and accurately. The students' comments and evaluation will help the College to plan improvements in its teacher education program.

The critique or evaluation will be given to each student and is based upon the evaluation sheets which each have submitted and in part upon the weekly reports filled out at the end of each week. If this critique is of value to a student, then there are some very important implications which he should take with him and put into practice in his work next year.

But what is an implication? An implication is a deduction or generalization which, though not stated directly in one's evaluation comments, is understood and applicable when taken from one set of experiences and related or applied to other experiences. In other words, as one goes to his teaching positions this fall, there are positive ideas and practices which he can utilize as a result of his experiences this year. Several of the following implications are listed for the student's considered use.

As a teacher on the job, one should be able to receive beneficial assistance from other qualified persons—principal, supervisors, superintendent, or fellow teachers. This is an implication from the high ratings and positive comments that have given about the specific help given by supervising teachers.

As a teacher on the job, one will want to learn from pupils and to use their experiences and backgrounds to enrich teaching.

The work of a teacher is more than what goes on in the classroom. The out-of-class activities, the extra contacts with the pupils merited attention during directed teaching. They merit even more attention in an actual teaching position.

The characteristics of a good teacher are to be sought consciously at all times. The calmness, the confidence, the attitude, and the many other essential qualities can be developed. One's philosophy of education should be strengthened by experiences. What is education? Who should be educated? How should education take place? These are some of the questions for which answers have been developed.

A developing scientific attitude of experimentation, action, research, and inquiry with the latest techniques, devices, materials, and information is a continuous "must" for the good teacher. This is one of the strongest implications for practice that one will want to take into work next year.

There are joy, fun, and satisfaction as well as service in teaching. Work, yes, but also fun in directed teaching. Many satisfactions come from units carried through successfully by student teachers and supervising teachers. No matter what one's chronological age may be—one can keep young in teaching.

Do It Now

This is the only week in which students will have the opportunity to pre-register for the summer session. Make an appointment with your adviser, and then follow the usual procedure for registering. Obtain a form from the office of the Registrar and fill out in full.

Dr. Edgar Smith Uses Rats For Experiments in Psychology Lab

JO ANN MEEK

Most unusual "teacher's little helpers" have turned up at Northwest Missouri State College in Dr. Edgar A. Smith's psychology classes. The average person might class them, however, as quite unorthodox assistants, for in reality they are rats—descendants of the wild species!

Because he can teach his four rats to do almost anything, except to be house-broken, he uses them to show his students behavior patterns comparable to those of human beings.

By teaching them to smoke and be drug addicts he can show his students their reactions. He has developed techniques of inducing the creatures into "epileptic" or "manic-depressive" seizures. He has done this before his classes to show how violently people would react in a similar state since it is impossible to bring a person so afflicted into the classroom.

Despite the popular aversion to rats, even the girls in his classes are fascinated with the things they have learned about behaviorism from the little rodents.

Dr. Smith maintains that the color of the hair of his rats is associated with personality. This characteristic is definitely not found in human beings. For example, the curly haired species are hard to train, can't be trusted, and always bite. White rats are wild and vicious and when tamed have a tendency to bite as compared to the pure black type, which never bite and do not have to be trained, the professor stated. He is still trying to find a rat with red hair.

His animals are given the best of care. They are kept in special cages designed to prevent injury when in a seizure.

Certain unpleasant pitches of noise such as jingling keys may be used to throw them into this epileptic stage. Students are able to see either the waxy or rigid appearance which is characteristic of the rats immediately following a seizure. A rat will recover from such a demonstration in about three minutes while it takes a human being much longer, Dr. Smith said.

After taking the rats through the laboratory processes, the psychologist is able to feed them out of his hand. Through all this experimentation, the creatures are not hurt! The only damage, Dr. Smith believes, results in making pets out of them which ruins them for further experimentation.

He has enjoyed working with rodents since 1942, when he was working on his Bachelor of Science degree at the University of Utah. His interest in the rats is shared by his seven-year-old daughter, Sally, who handles them as proficiently as does her father.

Walks Are Provided We Thank Stan . . .

Undoubtedly, there is not one student on campus who would consciously or intentionally harm or destroy the beauty of the campus.

However, some students have been noticed taking short-cuts across the campus. If this continues, the grass will be killed and the campus landscaping ruined.

The Student Senate asks that the student body use the walks that are provided.

On behalf of the Student Body, I would like to express our appreciation for the hard work and continuous effort which Stan Ogden exhibited in his role as Student President.

Upon retiring from the Student Senate, Stan expressed his sincere appreciation for the cooperation and help he received and for the opportunity to act in the capacity of Student Body President.

Thank you again, Stan, for your excellent work. We wish you the best of luck.—Frank Bayless.

Got a Sneezing Superstition . . . ?

by Jo Ann Meek

Long ago men thought that the basic essence of life was in the head. This essence could be expelled by a sneeze. Many superstitions about sneezing have resulted all over the world.

This violent, spasmodic, audible expiration of breath has remained a puzzle for years. It has been thought by some people to be a good sign; others believe it an evil omen.

One had to be careful about sneezing too loud or too hard. The soul could be dislodged and death was inevitable. A sneeze released evil demons which could enter into another's body.

In ancient Greece, if one sneezed to the left he would have ill luck; but, a sneeze to the right meant good luck.

About 300 years ago the hospitals discharged anyone who sneezed more than three times. This was a sign that the health of the patient would be restored shortly and further hospitalization was no longer needed.

Some Indians had a ritual to follow when anyone sneezed. Immediately after the victim sneezed somebody would call his name. Then that person would call back the relationship such as "mother."

Today belief is not held in these customs. The only thing thought about a sneeze seems to be that it is a way in which respiratory infections are spread.

Tribute

A little booklet dedicated to the memory of Wren Stirren Anderson has recently been published at Shenandoah, Iowa. In it is an account of letters written by Dr. J. Jones, president of Northwest Missouri State, and Miss Wincie A. Carruth, former chairman of the women's physical education department here, to Mrs. Stirren at the time of Wren's death.

These letters of sympathy are among many others which Mrs. Anderson's mother, the Rev. Edythe Stirren, radio pastor at Shenandoah, will keep.

Wren, class of 1946, was a victim of a tragic fire accident. She died December 3, 1953 after almost seven weeks of extreme suffering.

Faculty Notes

Miss Millikan went to Springfield to attend the recent Association for Childhood Education Missouri State Convention.

Miss Carrie Hopkins, former instructor in fine arts, is in the St. Francis hospital, Maryville.

F. B. Houghton, instructor in the agriculture department, was in Cameron recently attending a meeting of the officers of the Northwest Missouri Hampshire Sheep Breeders' Association. Mr. Houghton is secretary and treasurer of the organization.

The Alumni

Bill Pease, Mound City; Kenneth Privet, Mound City; Richard Neal, Maryville; Ross Wilson, Maryville; and Tom Utz, St. Joseph; attended the Ag Club award banquet, Friday evening, April 30. All are alumni of the College.

Iranian Student Plans to Enroll

Mr. R. P. Foster, registrar, is of the opinion that foreign students are very valuable to our college.

"Not only do they profit by being students here, but I am of the opinion they contribute much to the student body and faculty with their presence here," says the registrar.

Last fall Mr. Foster was contacted by an organization known as "American Friends of the Middle East." This organization was seeking admission for a young man from Teheran, Iran, to enter Northwest Missouri State College as an agriculture student.

After looking at work submitted, the College accepted the student, and a letter was received from Akbar Nurmanesh saying that he plans to enter the College next year and is eager to hear more in detail about the campus.

Mr. Nurmanesh would appreciate hearing from some of the students. Anyone desiring to write to him may obtain his address from Mr. Foster or Mr. R. T. Wright, Mr. Nurmanesh's adviser. Mr. Nurmanesh is 23 and son of an army officer.

This plan was originated by "American Friends of the Middle East" incorporated in New York City; however, all papers of acceptance were processed through the state department and embassy.

No organization or person is sponsoring Mr. Nurmanesh. He is coming at his own expense.

THE STROLLER

The end of the school year is rolling to an end, but the female roomers of Residence Hall rather hate to move out. Why? Well they have a very good reason, for the dorm has added some new equipment. Installed are a kitchenette, new washing machine, and hot water! All year the girls have done everything to get the steamy hot water. Better hurry, girls, and take advantage of these long-awaited conveniences. Better late than never!

Third floor annex of the dorm has sorrowfully turned into an infirmary. Suffering were Marilyn Houston, Carolyn Baker, and Mary Ann Funkhouser. Mary Ann was operated on for appendicitis. Sunburn pains are displeasing, aren't they girls?

The worst thing that could happen to a cigarette smoker occurred last week. The cigarette machine at the Union was out of order. All can breathe now, for it is repaired. Also, if your sweet tooth is hungry try the new candy bar machine just installed this week in the Bearcats' Den.

Spring present to Jan Hyink was a diamond. Lucky fellows usually pass out cigars. What do the girls give to the well wishers, Jan? Candy is really expensive, but don't you think it is in order?

Jo Ann Meek thinks so after receiving one of those Sig Tau pins from Marvin Bowman. Careful, Marvin, cigars are expensive! Best wishes to both Jan and Jo Ann.

Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority Wins Prize for Original Song

Professor Cauffield Receives Letter From Former College Friend

Professor Arthur Cauffield, who recently was given nationwide publicity, received a letter from Mrs. Ann Burlingame who had attended college with Mr. Cauffield at Ohio Northern University.

Mrs. Burlingame had read an article about Mr. Cauffield in the Palo Alto, California, newspaper. Mrs. Burlingame, her husband, the late Dr. L. Lance Burlingame, and Mr. Cauffield had attended college together. Dr. Burlingame and Mr. Cauffield had been close friends and roommates. Mrs. Burlingame speaks of having many happy memories of O. N. U. where they were students together.

Dr. Burlingame was a nationally known authority on heredity and social problems, and was professor of biology at Stanford University for 36 years. During that time, he did experimental work in genetics that won for him membership in many widely known scientific groups.

With three other professors, Dr. Burlingame organized the university's course in general biology and prepared a textbook for it. This textbook has been used here at the College for many years.

The Associated Press article which Mrs. Burlingame had read in the Palo Alto paper about Mr. Cauffield returning to the Northwest Missouri State campus told of his being a student at the college after having been an instructor here for 37 years.

Mary Ann Funkhouser, freshman, was admitted to the St. Francis Hospital, May 4, to undergo an appendicitis operation.

Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority held the second annual Kansas-Missouri regional meeting recently in Kansas City with more than 100 actives and alumnae attending from Emporia and Hays, Kansas; Kansas City; Maryville; Kirksville; Warrensburg; and Springfield.

Attending the meeting from the Phi Phi chapter were Gerry Struck, Bettabelle Pitts, Pat Cooper, Mallerd Maune, Barbara Staley, and Evelyn Hillman. The group was accompanied by Mrs. James Tanner, alumna.

"Music" was the theme of the program with each active chapter composing an original song and submitting it in group competition. The Phi Phi chapter won the prize of a crystal plate in the shape of an open book with the Lord's Prayer inscribed on it. Pat Adams composed the song.

Decorations at the dinner consisted of place cards depicting choir girls strumming a banjo or holding a candle, and carried out the sorority colors, red and white. The programs were bell-shaped with ASA outlined in red sequins.

Mrs. E. A. Kreek, national alumnae organizer, presided at the meeting, which was organized by the Kansas City alumnae chapter. Mrs. Kreek is a former member of this college's chapter.

Gerry Struck was elected secretary of a committee composed of actives to organize the meeting for 1955.

Farewells were said to the seniors in the form of bon bon dishes. The gifts were quite attractive. Phi Phi chapter will really miss Mallerd Maune, Janie Kurtz, Phyllis Reigel, Joyce Haws, and Virdean Dorman. Jackie Adams, who was graduated at the winter semester, was also given a gift.

Five Ag Club Men Take Top Awards

Donald Blackford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Blackford, Maryville, was announced the winner of the Annual Ag Club Livestock Judging Contest and was presented the traditional golden steer trophy by A. J. Dinsdale, vice-president of the Nodaway Valley Bank, at the Ag Club award banquet held in the Union, April 30. Blackford was also high individual in beef cattle and quarter horses.

Other winners in the various divisions were Kenneth Nickell, Skidmore, sheep division; and Marvin Triggs, Mt. Ayr, Iowa, hog division. The winner of each of the four divisions received a key presented by Mr. Dinsdale.

Blackford, a sophomore with an agriculture major and biology minor, was a member of the College livestock judging team that made a very commendable record at the recent Oklahoma City livestock judging contests. Triggs is a sophomore with an agriculture major and an industrial arts minor and was an alternate on the Oklahoma City team, while Nickell is a freshman majoring in agriculture.

Mr. F. B. Houghton, sponsor of the club, gave special recognition and presented the awards from the Oklahoma City Intercollegiate Livestock Judging Contest held in March.

James Jackson, Skidmore, received recognition for ranking as second high individual in his division and third high in the contest with 60 boys competing. He was also the high individual on the Maryville team.

Marian Tiemann, Westboro, ranked fourth in his division and sixth in the contest. The team was also recognized for its high score of 4199 points, just one point below the first place team in the contest.

Awards from this contest were a key to Tiemann for being the high individual in the beef cattle division and a plaque to the team for placing first in the beef cattle division.

Wayne Jackson Sets New 440 Record

Horace Mann speedster Wayne Jackson hits the tape to set a new 440 yard run record of :52.2 during Thursday's Northwest Missouri District Track and Field meet held at the college track here. Jackson's whirlwind run smashed the old record of :52.5 set in 1953 by Ron Smith of Bethany. The Cubs placed third in the 17 school meet with a final point total of 18½ points.

MIAA Track Title Won by Cape Indians

Cape Girardeau edged out defending champion Warrensburg Saturday afternoon to win the M. I. A. A. track and field meet.

Cape scored 63½ points, Warrensburg 58½, Kirksville 48, Rolla 30½, Springfield 30, and Maryville 7½.

Cape took the first event and led all the way, but pushed by Warrensburg and Kirksville.

Three Protests

Warrensburg entered one formal protest and two vocal ones but all were overruled. The formal protest resulted from a half mile run in which Teddy Boone of Warrensburg finished second only to be disqualified on the grounds he violated the starter instruction. M. I. A. A. Commissioner John Waldorf overruled the protest.

With Warrensburg trailing by only two points and the mile relay on the track, the Warrensburg team was disqualified for cutting in on a curve.

No meet records were broken.

Don Sylvara of Kirksville and Bill Price of Springfield were double winners. Sylvara taking the javelin and broadjump and Price the mile and two-mile runs.

Two Lead Cape

Cape was paced by Ken Hargens and Don Fritz, sprintmen. Fritz won the 100-yard dash and finished third in the 220. Hargens won the 220 and took 2nd in the century. Both ran on the winning half mile relay team. And Fritz took second in the broadjump, third in the javelin, and ran a leg on the third place mile relay team. He scored 15 points, to take individual honors and performed on two relay teams that scored 8 points.

Best performances were turned in by Fritz, who ran the century in 10.1 seconds. Ray Reuben of Warrensburg, who did the high hurdles in 15.4 seconds, Hargens who ran the 220 in 22.7 and Steve Horn of Kirksville, who ran the half mile in 2 minutes, 1.9 seconds.

For the Bearcats 7½ points, Butler placed fourth in the discus; Putney fourth in the mile; Spence fourth in the 100 yard dash; Dowden tied for fifth in the high jump, and Maryville took fifth in the half-mile relay, the team being made up of Spence, Tilton, Linville and Maler.

In the golf match, Dave Cochran placed sixth in medal score with 163 strokes on the 36 hole match.

At tennis, the Bearcats placed second to Warrensburg. Clark and Adair played to the semi-finals and quarter-finals, respectively in the singles and the two played to semi-finals in the doubles.

Jobs Are Plentiful

Jobs for college graduates are more plentiful this year but bosses are more particular, placement offices at St. Louis and Washington universities reported today.

Well, well, well, here we go again. Yes, AH-BA-GIG-E is back in the saddle again or should we say Gene Autry is.

The Swim club members are to be commended on their fine performance. We feel that it was enjoyed by all who attended. What was the matter with "Doc" Surrey's face when he insisted that Miss Magill open her present?

In lieu (dig the last word) of congratulations we should like to extend or rather acknowledge the fine job that the M Club and all other persons did in making the District Track Meet a huge success.

As AH-BA-GIG-E has noticed, it seems that:

Ricky "Raine" Tilton is still busily dancing with his hat and cane. Lewis "Pledge" Linville is still determined to be an accomplished track star.

Mark Burns giving it that ole "College try."

Loren "Star" Putney, running back to New York to stay in shape for next year.

Bill Baldwin driving his new automobile to Grant City.

Dave Myers back in tip-top shape and off that darn old cane.

Surprise of the day—The dorm closing without Paul Clark being in front in his car.

Ono Monachino didn't like, or maybe we should say understand, last week's comment; so he asked to say something good about him. AH-BA-GIG-E says that that is impossible, sorry, "big boy."

John Russell now Maryville's foremost garbage collector and sod layer. Don't you dare laugh, Jerry Sprong, as you are a yardbird yourself.

It has been said that Mike Hutchison has turned lover. We do not believe this.

Rumor has it that the M Club picnic, May 12, is to be something to remember—those attending will understand this more than others.

Oh! All should pat George Nathan on the back since he won a gold medal for advertising in the paper.

Robert "Poo-Poo" Pumphrey, still listening for that sound off in the distance that has him puzzled; AH-BA-GIG-E knows that it sounds preposterous but it is nothing more than the Osborn March Band.

Remember: It takes two to tango. He who hesitates is lost, but it is advisable to look before you leap. Mother's Day is over and we hope everyone was pleased!

Our thought for the week: Never estimate the number of juvenile poultry until the period of incubation has fully materialized or don't count your chickens before they hatch.

Jean Richardson Is Director of Comedy To Be Given Soon

John Kirkpatrick's "A Wedding," a one act comedy, will be given in room 103 on May 20 commencing at 7:30 p.m. The play will be directed by Mrs. Jean Llenemann Richardson of the play production class.

Members of the cast will be Charles Hagee, groom; Patty Neff, bride; Elbert Blair, best man; Dan Hochstein, groomsman; Roger Rowlett, bride's father; Carolyn Risser, bride's aunt; Mrs. Leola Hall, groom's mother.

The play tells the story of a family preparing for a wedding. The scene of the sedulous preparation is in the bride's bedroom. The blissful couple are wholeheartedly in love as is illustrated by the dialogue in the play. But then the groom loses his collar button, and the fire works begin. An argument ensues in which the couple decide that they won't be married after all.

In the end, however, the collar button is found, and the irate groom is forgiving toward the bride. They resume their former happy state and start off for the preacher.

It is a light, laughable comedy, which should provide an interesting evening's entertainment for college students.
